I'm fighting for us!

Hello Serena's Readers!

aCooooig here again. I'm uncovering some of Star's secrets, and Serena (she really freaks me out with everything that she knows about us, but I've decided to embrace and use it now!) has been writing about them in The Consigliere and it stays between you and me but I can't wait to read The Oracle now. I'm used to seeing my brothers in compromising positions, but the Don of the Camorra with the Consigliere of the Cosa Nostra? Not sure I was ready for all that filth... and trust me when I say filthy is my middle name...

Anyways, figured I'd leave Star another note. Keep her apprised on my journey to getting her back to me. Where she belongs...

Dear Star,

I've decided to stop being angry with you.

Anger gets me nowhere.

Instead, I'm working my way through your secrets.

Everything you've tried to hide away. I'm uncovering.

Like that friendship with the new Don of the Camorra?

Yeah.

Like how you were buddies with his grandfather?

Shit like that.

It's all coming out.

*Because when I find you, when I get my hands on you,
there'll be no more lies or bullshit between us.*

That's a promise.

Conor

P.s. Katina is fine btw. If you care.

Knocked Up by the Beast

by Aria R. Blue

I used to believe in fairy tales.
And then I met him.

They call him the Beast.
Cold, calculating eyes watched my every move.
He pushed me up against the walls of his castle, and growled against my neck that he owned me now.
But beneath the savage, I glimpsed a man.
I gave myself to him.
I let him dominate every inch of my curves and glimpse every corner of my heart.
